Honor Award recognizes Civic Innovators in selecting 2010 recipients. ABC Imaging to be benefactor level supporter. Perkins+Will becomes first architectural firm to receive Honor Award.

Washington, DC—May 7, 2010—ABC Imaging, a Washington, DC-based provider of comprehensive office support and print services, announced recently that it will be a benefactor level supporter for the National Building Museum 2010 Honor Award.

The NBM Honor Award recognizes innovative contributions to the built environment by individuals and organizations. The gala event celebrating the recipients occurs May 11 in the main hall of the museum.

The theme for this year's award is "A Salute to Civic Innovators." Recipients include Perkins+Will, the founders of the New Orleans Habitat Musicians Village, and the U.S. Department of Energy Solar Decathlon.

"ABC Imaging appreciates the many groundbreaking contributions made by this year's recipients," said Medi Falsafi, President and CEO of ABC Imaging. "We are happy to join the Building Museum celebrating the creativity these organizations have shown as civic innovators."

Perkins+Will, from its home base in Chicago, has operated from the forefront of civic-minded design for most of the firm's 75 year-history. In the 21 years that the NBM has made Honor Awards, Perkins+Will is the first architectural firm to receive the award. The firm is an ABC Imaging client.

The founders of the New Orleans Habitat Musicians Village will be recognized for their work in restoring the city's Ninth Ward for musicians in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina. The founders include Harry Connick, Jr., Branford Marsalis, Ann Marie Wilkins, and Jim Pate.

The U.S. Department of Energy Solar Decathlon will be honored for their outreach in teaching the importance of a holistic approach to energy efficiency. Known as the "whole building approach," the Solar Decathlon has taken place annually since 2001.
